

The Link Trail is open from the main Finger Lakes Trail (FLT) in northern Chenango County to Canastota, with some on-road sections as noted on the maps.

The aptly named Link Trail extends ~32 miles from its southern junction with the main FLT to its terminus in Canastota at the Canal Town Museum/Old Erie Canal Trail.

The FLT Onondaga Branch/North Country Trail extension joins the Link Trail/NCT in the Tiohognioga WMA; this connection offers direct westward NCT travel via the FLT.

A partnership of trail volunteers, landowners, NYS Dept. of Environmental Conservation, NYS Parks, Madison County, local towns & villages, the North Country Trail Association, the National Park Service, private foundations, civic organizations, trail clubs and businesses is working to make this a premier off-road walking path.

Imagine...

Connecting the Old Erie Canal State Park at Canastota, Chittenango Falls State Park, Cazenovia's Gorge Trail, the historic Village of Cazenovia & its trails, Stone Quarry Hill Art Park, Nelson Swamp Unique Area, Tioughnioga Wildlife Management Area, Madison County's Dugway Forest, Muller Hill State Forest, and the main Finger Lakes Trail (FLT).

And Consider This...

Connection to the main FLT links the trail with State Forests, Unique Areas & Wildlife Management areas across the Southern Tier, and the Catskills.

Eastward from Canastota via the Old Erie Canal towpath, the planned North Country Trail will bring you to Fort Stanwix in Rome & northward to Pixley Falls State Park. The NCT from Pixley Falls to Boonville via the BREIA Canal Trail, the Village of Boonville, and to Forestport via the Black River Feeder Canal Trail is already complete. Work on the NCT within the Adirondack Park is underway—destination is Crown Point, NY.

National Connections...

The Link Trail hiker turning east on the main FLT can reach the Appalachian Trail (Maine to Georgia); and by going west on the main FLT, join the North Country Trail leading to Pennsylvania and on to North Dakota, the western terminus of the NCT.

Who We Are...

The North Country Trail Association is a non-profit corporation founded to develop, protect and maintain the North Country National Scenic Trail, or "North Country Trail."

Our Central New York Chapter is building the Link Trail, part of which carries the North Country Trail, and part of which will be a designated side trail within the national trails system.
